Aug 17 isn't great but I can make it work if its best for everyone. Have to cancel a few things. September dates can all work but need ti lock this down before other things crash into our calendars.

Here are dated currently on hold on EPA calendars:

- August 10 – 10 am to noon HI time (doesn't work for Peter)

- September 7 – 9 am to 11 am Hawaii time
- September 14 – 11 am to 1 pm Hawaii time

Which of these dates work for DOH and Peter?

I know how hard scheduling for a lot of people is. I also have a lot on my plate.

Some total blackout days for me are Aug 8-14, 19, and 26.

At the moment, some good open days are Jul 29 and Aug 2, 5, 6, 16, 23, 24, 30 and 31.

So far, we do not have large blocks of times scheduled for vacations. Availability is sporadic given the number of meetings we already have scheduled. In general, afternoons seem to be better. Gabriella, send us your dates and we'll see what works best for most of us.

Thanks,

Lene, you beat me to getting an e-mail off to you and Gabriela. Here's our next steps:

1. Both of your teams to prepare and distribute in advance of our first meeting short status reports covering three items: the status of work outstanding work to be done, and major sticking points, if any.

- a. Ground water and pollution transport (Fenix and Lindsay)
- b. Risk assessment (Gabriela and Hugh)

- c. Corrosion and Tank Inspection (Gabriella and Hugh)
2. Gabriella to track change Lene's last and send to her and me.
3. I will work up a second version for you both with a few introductory words that clarify what we are doing, why, and how.
4. Both of you to look for windows for at least two joint team meetings, preferably before the end of August when we expect Navy/DLA response to deficiencies.

Lene and Gabriela-

Here is a draft agenda for discussion between the three of us. I think it may be wise to do the first two meetings before the Navy sends its response. On a call, lets work on the agenda and try to set tentative meeting dates. I can set up Zoom or use Teams or Webex. For our call, here are my availabilities at the moment.

This week:

- Thu, after 2:30pm
- Fri, 12pm to 3:30pm

Next Week

- Mon, 8am to 10am or after 12pm
- Wed, 2pm and after
- Thu, anytime
